An appeal is a grievance about an assessment outcome (sometimes called an academic appeal). Civil Safety has a process for re-evaluating assessment outcomes if the student is unhappy with the outcome. All re-assessments involve an assessor who is independent of the initial assessment which is subject to the appeal.

If you are unhappy with the outcome of assessment you should first approach your initial assessor and make sure that the reasons for being unsuccessful are understood. Once that has been done or you are still not sure why the assessment was unsuccessful, contact any other staff member to discuss the procedure for lodging the appeal.

Civil Safety will deal with any appeal in an effective and timely manner, aiming to resolve all appeals within one week (7 days) of the appeal being lodged in writing by the student.

- Each appeal must be lodged in writing and the outcome of the resolution will be made in writing;
- Any person who lodges an appeal will be given the opportunity to present their case in an unbiased and independent environment. The independence of the party or panel must be mutually agreed;
- We will act upon any substantiated complaint or appeal and may see the result as an Improvement Opportunity for us.

The CEO is responsible for managing the resolution of any appeal or complaint and will be able to supply and assist with the relevant appeal or complaint form as required.

All appeals and complaints including their resolutions are reviewed at our management meetings and, if appropriate, will result in a continuous improvements activity.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning is the formal acknowledgement of current skills, knowledge and attitudes held as a result of education and training, work experience and/or life experience, it is essentially an assessment only pathway in the VET system.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) will be structured to minimize the cost and time to applicants whilst retaining the integrity of the national VET Quality Framework to recognise competencies in accordance with the requirements of Training Packages or Accredited courses Civil Safety will ensure that any applicant for Recognition of Prior Learning is provided with:

- Information about the units of competency relevant to their Recognition of Prior Learning application.
- Adequate information and support to enable the student to gather reliable evidence of competency.
- Opportunities to obtain feedback on the evidence proposed prior to finalisation of the application
- Competencies for which RPL is being requested may have been developed through formal education and training, through work experience or training or through life experiences.
- A written statement from an appropriate supervisory person is required to confirm authorship of any work submitted.

It is accepted that RPL is an assessment of an individual's current knowledge, skills and attitudes even though the evidence produced in support of the claim for recognition may be drawn from the past. It is up to the RPL assessor to judge whether the evidence produced demonstrates current knowledge, skills and attitudes

Application forms and the policy are available through administration. Again, please call if you cannot access these or if you have any questions.

Credit Transfer

Civil Safety will recognise any Qualification or Statement of Attainment issued by other RTOs in accordance with the regulatory standards for RTOs. Credit Transfer information will be included in information given to students prior to enrolment via the Student Handbook. All staff must be provided with information about the Credit Transfer application process and assist students in completing applications.

Definitions:

Credit Transfer – exempting a student from enrolling in and being assessed in a unit or units because they have been granted recognition for completing the identical unit or units at another Registered Training Organisation. Variations in the version number of units reflect minor changes not related to outcomes. Recognition means that students will be granted exemptions or advanced standing in a course as a consequence of having completed the same unit(s) with another Registered Training Organisation

Procedure:

Applicants for Course Credit Transfer must complete the student credit transfer application form, attach a copy of a verified Award or Statement of Attainment and submit the application to the Compliance Manager.

The Compliance Manager will verify the validity and authenticity of the Award or Statement of Attainment and grant credit transfers for identical units that have been identified as being completed at another Registered Training Organisation.

The Compliance Manager will verify the copies of Qualifications and Statements of Attainment used as the basis for granting Credit Transfer and the verified copies will be placed in the student files.

The completed Course Credit Transfer record will be signed by the student and the Compliance Manager.

Granting of Course Credit Transfer will be recorded as a unit outcome in the students file.

After Course Credit Transfer is granted a student's course schedule will be reviewed and any reductions in the scheduled attendance and the reasons for the reduction recorded and placed in the student's file.

National Recognition

Students who undertake nationally recognised training in one state will have their qualification valued equally throughout Australia. This is because all RTOs in Australia agree to nationally recognise all awards issued by any other RTO in the country.

However, in some jurisdictions there may be differences with certain high-risk licenses. Students are advised to check their local regulator's requirements.

Student Support, Welfare and Guidance

We will assist all students in their genuine efforts to complete our training programs.

In the event that you are experiencing any difficulties with your studies we would recommend that you see your trainer, or another staff member of Civil Safety

We will ensure that the full resources of our organisation are made available to assist you accessing the required level of completion required.

Should you be experiencing any personal difficulties you should make contact directly with the Principal who will assist you to the full extent of his capacity.

Flexible Delivery and Assessment Procedures

Civil Safety recognises that not all students learn in the same manner, and that with an amount of “reasonable adjustment” students who may not learn best with traditional learning and assessment methods will still achieve good results.

Civil Safety will make any necessary adjustment to meet the needs of a variety of students. For example, the ability to complete a written assessment is not seen as an inability to meet competency when the student can verbally demonstrate competency. These adjustments may include having someone read assessment materials to students or they may include having someone record the student’s spoken responses to assessment questions.

Civil Safety undertakes to assist students achieve their required competency level where the adjustment is reasonable and is within the training packaging rules.

Where we cannot assist a student, we will refer them, where possible, to an agency that can assist.

Discipline

Civil Safety provides training and assessment services in a spirit of cooperation and mutual respect. If a trainer or staff member is unhappy or dissatisfied with the behavior or performance of a student the trainer has the authority to:

- Warn the student that their behavior is unsuitable, or
- Ask a student to leave the class, without refund or acceptance into another course, or
- Immediately cancel the class.

If a student wishes to express a complaint in relation to the disciplinary action taken, they have the opportunity to follow our complaints procedure. We expect that our staff will maintain a professional and ethical working relationship with all other staff, management and students. Any breach of disciplinary standards will be discussed with the trainer and Civil Safety and the appropriate action will be taken.

Plagiarism

Copyright infringement is not the same as plagiarism. Copyright infringement can occur wherever any substantial amount of copyright-protected work is used without permission, even if the source is acknowledged.

However, plagiarism involves passing off another person's ideas or expression as your own. Plagiarism includes unintentional copying without acknowledgment, as well as the more deliberate and deceitful copying of the work of others.

Students should note that the following actions are acts of plagiarism:

- copying paragraphs, sentences, a single sentence or significant parts of a sentence directly, without quotation marks and appropriate citation;
- paraphrasing or summarising direct quotations, without acknowledging the source within the text;
- developing an idea that appears elsewhere, without making reference to the source of that idea.

Plagiarism can be avoided by adequately referencing your material.

Our trainers

Our trainers and assessors have extensive experience in training and assessment. They have the knowledge and skills and are willing to transfer this information to all employers, employees and trainees/students.

What is assessment?

General Information on Competency Based Training and Assessment

Competency-based training (CBT) is an approach to vocational education and training that places emphasis on what you, the trainee, can do in the workplace as a result of completing a program of training.

Assessment is the process of collecting evidence and making judgements on the extent and nature of performance and other requirements, as described in a set of standards, or learning outcomes, resulting in a judgement of whether or not competency has been demonstrated.

Effective and objective assessment is the key to the successful implementation of competency standards in the workplace and in education. This is the judgement of performance and knowledge against the relevant industry competency standards. Assessment is carried out by the comparison of a candidate's evidence of skills and knowledge, against the requirements of the Standards.

For you to be assessed competent you will need to demonstrate the ability to perform tasks and duties to the standard expected in employment. CBT focuses on the development of the skills, knowledge and attitudes required to achieve those competency standards.

What is competent performance?

Being competent encompasses all aspects of workplace performance including:

- carrying out tasks at an acceptable level
- organising and managing a range of different tasks
- responding appropriately to routine changes
- applying existing skills and knowledge to new situations
- using communication and interpersonal skills which suit that work environment

The focus of accredited vocational courses is on what you can actually do – and the standard at which you are able to perform. Performance is measured in terms of whether you meet the prescribed levels of competency, not how well you carry out tasks relative to each other or the length of time taken to attain the skill/s

What is competency-based assessment?

Assessment is the process of obtaining evidence about your performance and making judgements on that evidence against prescribed standards of performance.

Competency based assessment is designed to measure your performance, skills and knowledge against the standards for skills and knowledge needed in the workplace and as defined in the specific Training Package.

Competency-based assessment is:

- Criterion based.
You are not in competition with your peers but are assessed against standard criteria or benchmarks.
- Evidence based.
Whether you are competent is based upon evidence provided by you, the trainee. The evidence may be demonstrated or produced by you or gathered by the assessor.
- Participatory.
You are encouraged to be involved in the process of assessment. You and your assessor have the scope to negotiate the form and range of assessment activities.

The assessment process involves:

1. Collecting evidence about performance

Assessment is linked to the requirements of the workplace. Direct evidence about your knowledge and skills will be obtained in your workplace or an environment that simulates your workplace. The evidence will then be measured against the unit requirements.

2. Making a judgement

The national units of competency will be used as a benchmark to judge whether you are performing to the required industry standard

3. Recording results

We have strict government enforced rules around evidence and record keeping

Roles and Responsibilities

Role of the Trainee

The assessment process should ensure a cooperative relationship between the assessor, assessee (you) and your workplace supervisor or mentor. You should participate in as much of the process as possible. Direct involvement means that you can take more interest in your own assessment and self-assess your performance before undertaking the formal assessment.

You can prepare yourself for your assessments by ensuring that you:

- are well informed and comfortable about the assessment process;
- are assessed at a time and place when you are ready to demonstrate competence;
- have contributed to the planning of the assessment process;
- work cooperatively with the assessor and your mentor;
- identify your own training and development needs.

Role of the Mentor

Ideally the mentor should be a line manager/supervisor. Their role is to support students and facilitate the assessment process by providing encouragement, advice, extension of work activities, feedback and documentary evidence.

Role of the Assessor

Assessors must ensure that they:

- create a climate of trust, support, respect and warmth to allow you to feel comfortable about the assessment process;
- encourage you to take more responsibility for your own assessment;
- involve and support you and the mentor throughout the assessment process;
- communicate and give clear explanations about how you are going to be assessed, the criteria you will be assessed against, the reasons for the assessment and the way that the assessment process is going to take place;
- make their judgment on evidence that is valid, reliable, fair and flexible;
- are responsible for the conduct and management of the assessment process whilst maintaining confidentiality; and
- are responsible for the recording and reporting of results.

Methods of Assessing Competencies

Assessment methods are a means of collecting evidence. They do not determine what the evidence should be. This is determined by the competency standard. Some common methods of assessment include:

- observing you carrying out your work activities against the performance criteria in the competency standard;
- using “traditional” assessment tools such as written tests to assess knowledge that underpins the performance of tasks;
- asking you about your work activity;
- oral questioning;
- personal reports;
- examining documentation related to the work activity.

Outcome of Assessment

The purpose of assessment is to assess competence on the basis of your performance. You will be assessed as either competent or not competent against the required standard. The assessment is made on the basis of evidence which can be provided in a variety of forms.

All criteria need to be met concurrently to demonstrate the achievement.

Specific Information Related to Assessments

Students who are dissatisfied with their assessment outcome may apply for reassessment by contacting their trainer or assessor. Students will be given two extra opportunities for reassessment. If a student does not achieve competency in the second attempt, the student will be required to repeat the unit of competency.

Your final assessment may be conducted in one session or a series of sessions depending on the material being assessed. For the mining industry, assessments must be mining relevant and, in many cases, demonstrated on a mine site or conducted at an approved simulated site. The assessor will advise you on the process for assessment.

The assessments consist of both theory and practical components and each section must be successfully completed to be deemed competent. Successful completion of an assessment will enable you to be recognised as being competent against the standard.

Note: It is the responsibility of the assessor to fully brief and instruct you on the assessment format and the WHS requirements.

Prior to Commencing the Assessment

Read through the assessment tool and instructions before beginning the assessment. There may be specific requirements of which you may not be aware. Should you require assistance to interpret the assessment tool, please advise the assessor prior to commencement of the assessment.

Assessment Process

The assessment may be commenced at any stage throughout the shift's activities and/or operation. If at any point you are identified as Not Yet Competent (NYC) for the unit being assessed the assessment process will cease immediately and you will be informed of the decision.

On completion of the assessment:

If you are deemed competent, the results of your assessment will be recorded and you will be asked to sign to verify that you have sighted the result.

If you are deemed not yet competent, your trainer and assessor will discuss the outcome of the assessment with you. As part of this process, the assessor will identify the skills gap and recommend a plan for further training. The Not Yet Competent result will still be recorded and the assessor may be required to notify the site supervisor of the outcome of the assessment. When you are ready for reassessment (second assessment attempt) a new assessment date will be set.

Reassessment

Students who are dissatisfied with their assessment outcome may apply for reassessment by contacting their trainer or assessor. Student will be given two opportunities for assessment. If a student does not achieve competency in the second attempt, the student will be required to repeat the unit of competency.

Trainees and Apprentices Information only

What is a trainee or apprentice?

Apprenticeships and traineeships combine training with working in a real job, for a real boss, with a real wage. Apprentices and trainees complete a nationally recognised qualification while learning valuable skills at work and under the guidance of a training organisation. Upon completion, you may find yourself in a great place to keep working, go on to future study or even start your own business.

- Apprentices are trained in a skilled trade, such as electrical, plumbing, cabinet-making and automotive. Upon completion, apprentices become a qualified tradesperson.
- Trainees are trained in vocational areas, such as office administration, information technology and tourism. Upon successful completion, a trainee will receive a qualification in their chosen vocational area.

Quick facts about apprenticeships and traineeships

- Apprenticeships and traineeships combine work with structured training.
- Apprenticeships and traineeships can be full-time, part-time, or school-based - where some of the training is undertaken while the apprentice or trainee is in high school.
- Existing employees may undertake an apprenticeship or traineeship.
- Apprenticeships and traineeships require employers to enter into a training contract with the apprentice or trainee.
- Employers work with a training organisation and the apprentice or trainee to draw up a training plan.
- Training options must be negotiated and outlined in the training plan. Aspects of training that are open to negotiation (subject to training package requirements) include: selection, content and sequencing or competency units, timing, location and mode of delivery, and the trainer or facilitator.

It is the responsibility of the employer, apprentice or trainee and the supervising registered training organisation to negotiate a training plan and ensure the training is completed.

It is the responsibility of the employer to ensure apprentices and trainees are paid at the correct wage level. Advice on wages and entitlements can be obtained from the Fair Work Ombudsman.

Employer responsibilities

The employer must:

Contact an Australian Apprenticeships Support Network (AASN) to arrange the signing of a training contract.

Ensure the training contract is signed by the parties within 14 days of the start of the apprenticeship or traineeship.

Select a training organisation in consultation with the apprentice or trainee.

Take all reasonable steps to ensure that the training contract is given to the AAC within 28 days of the start of the apprenticeship or traineeship.

Negotiate a training plan with the apprentice or trainee and the training organisation within three months of the start of the apprenticeship or traineeship.

The employer must:

Deliver training as negotiated in the training plan.

Provide, or arrange to provide, the facilities and range of work as specified in the training plan, ensuring the apprentice or trainee is adequately supervised by a qualified person. Read the ATIS-039 Adequate training arrangements in the workplace information sheet for a definition of a qualified person.

Pay the wages and provide the entitlements specified in the relevant industrial relations instrument.

Release the apprentice or trainee from work and pay the appropriate wages to attend any off-the-job training, including assessment as provided for in the training plan.

Discharge all lawful obligations of an employer, including those relating to workplace health and safety.

At reasonable intervals of not more than three months, update the training record.

Negotiate a training plan within 28 days where the current training plan has ended due to change of training organisation or transfer of training contract.

Registered Training Organisations responsibilities

A registered training organisation (RTO) is a training provider registered to deliver vocational education and training/assessment services. A supervising registered training organisation (SRTO) is an RTO who accepts the role to deliver specified services in regard to an apprenticeship or traineeship and to monitor delivery of training and assessment services required under a training plan. There must be an SRTO for each apprenticeship and traineeship.

The SRTO will:

At the start and during the term of a training contract, including when a registered training contract is either permanently or temporarily transferred to a new employer and/or on return from an agreed suspension period, will:

Provide parties with all relevant information regarding the training and assessment requirements of the apprenticeship or traineeship.

Conduct an assessment to verify the employer has the capacity to supervise and train the apprentice or trainee.

Work with the employer and the apprentice or trainee to provide, or arrange to provide, the facilities, services, supervision and training required under the training plan.

Negotiate and develop the training plan with the employer and apprentice or trainee within strict timeframes.

Provide, within 14 days of the training plan being signed, a training record in an appropriate format (e.g. paper-based or electronic format).

Update the training record at intervals of no more than three months.

Ensure that the apprentice or trainee, their parent/guardian (if applicable) and the employer are aware of the costs associated with training.

During the term of the training contract, assist the employer and others who contribute to the apprentice or trainee's training to understand their roles and responsibilities in planning workforce tasks and delivering workplace training relevant to the apprentice or trainee's training.

Ensure that training and assessment required to be delivered under the training plan is delivered to the apprentice or trainee.

Arrange additional learning support, if required.

Advise the department if an apprentice or trainee is not progressing under the training plan.

Manage disputes regarding competence as per the SRTTO's appeals and complaints resolution process.

Issue the qualification stated in the training plan upon completion.

Together, with the employer and the apprentice or trainee, sign a completion agreement, when all training and assessment required under the training plan has been completed and give this agreement to the department within 10 days of signing. The SRTTO will also contact the department in the event that an apprenticeship or traineeship is fulfilled but the employer (or the apprentice/trainee) does not sign a completion agreement.

Words you will need to know

Apprenticeship -A legally binding training arrangement between an employer and an apprentice that combines structured training with paid employment. Apprenticeships usually take up to four years to complete, with training taking place both at the workplace and with a training organisation.

Australian Apprenticeships Support Network-Australian Apprenticeships Support Network (AASN) are contracted by the Australian Government to provide certain services (such as sign up of the training contract) to apprentices, trainees and employers on behalf of the state government training authorities. AACs are the first point of contact during the life cycle of the training contract and manage incentives relating to apprenticeships and traineeships.

Apprenticeship Network Providers (ANPs) are contracted by the Commonwealth Government to explain to employers, apprentices and trainees the rules that apply in NSW and the financial assistance that may be available. They provide support to employers, apprentices and trainees throughout the life of the training contract.

Competency-based training-Competency-based training (CBT) placed primary emphasis on what a person can do as a result of their training and experience. This means that the time required to complete the apprenticeship or traineeship is flexible.

Induction -At the commencement of the apprenticeship or traineeship, the apprentice or trainee will complete an induction with their training organisation, Australian Apprenticeships Centre and employer. An induction is an introduction to the apprenticeship or traineeship, and outlines everything the apprentice or trainee will need to know about their training and work arrangements.

Off-the-job training-Training that is away from work or removed from routine work duties. This can take place either in the workplace or at a training venue.

On-the-job training-Training and work skills apprentices and trainees receive while they are working.

Probationary period - A period of time at the beginning of an apprenticeship or traineeship which allows the employer and the apprentice or trainee to decide whether they want to continue with the apprenticeship or traineeship.

Recognition of prior learning (or RPL) - The formal recognition of a person's current skills and knowledge, achieved outside of the formal education and training system. A registered training organisation assesses these skills and determines competencies achieved, if any, from the specific qualification.

Supervising registered training organization- A registered training organisation who agrees to deliver training to an apprentice or trainee. Also known as SRTOs and referred to as training organisations throughout this handbook.

Traineeship- A structured training and paid employment arrangement that involves a legally binding contract between the employer and trainee. Traineeships vary in length from 12 months to three years.

Training contract-A legally binding contract for training between an employer and an apprentice or trainee. If the apprentice or trainee is under 18 years of age, and it is appropriate, their parent or guardian must provide signed consent to the apprenticeship or traineeship.

Training plan-Outlines the training and assessment to be undertaken, who will deliver it, where it will be delivered and timeframes for achievement of competency.

Training record-Kept by the apprentice or trainee and used to record the progress and achievement of competencies by that apprentice or trainee, as outlined in the training plan.
